

VENKO POROMANSKI – DRUMS

www.myspace.com/venkoporomanski

Venko has been occupied with drums and percussions since he was 12 years old. His style has been strongly influenced by the traditions of the huge jazz and pop drum players from the East Coast. The groove emotion in the sound of his band "TE" can be mainly connected to his sense for rhythm, time and ability to reproduce almost unplayable drum lines.

In 1996 he graduates the National Musical Academy. Just as Ivaylo Zvezdomirov, he has played in the jazz formations "Tambu", "Bells", "Dynamite Bras band" (1999-2000) and had countless participations in many jazz festivals and also in the "Big band" of the Bulgarian National Radio (1996-1999).

Venko has been recording with Vasil Petrov, Theodosi Spasov, Roberta and many others; he has also worked as a session musician for the popular Bulgarian bands and artists such as Atlas, Geronimo, D2, Simeon Shterev, Kamelia Todorova and Ani Lozanova and has had concerts with Mike Stern and Frank Ilt.

In May 2002 he took part in the Annual Drum-fest in Koblenz, Germany, together with his idols and teachers Steve Gadd, John J.R. Robinson, Luis Conte, Lenny Castro and others.

At the moment Venko is a drummer for the home band of "Music Idol" TV show.
